Another matrimonial story has been added to the list of the White Caps.

Dr. Sarah Spencer's pet Hahnemann will go into the House on appeal.

The Indians Yaquis are again on the war path. This is more in the nature of a reprisal than one of the predatory raids of the American Indians.

The Oakland paper complains that the "Bay Boulevard" (that is to be), of Lake Merritt is in a state of "utter desuetude." Then let it be improved.

The boycott has been raised from the Call and Bulletin of San Francisco and upon the ferryboats of the Pacific Railroad Company. Perhaps these newspaper folks, to stand in daily of their difficulties.

The well dressed ladies who visit the White House are not free from embarrassment as he must necessarily be by questionable females and others, and exposed to every temptation. It is high time that President Cleveland got married.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, under the disadvantage of being a new road and in opposition to itself, is in a flourishing condition. Its annual statement is encouraging. In 1885 it cleared half a million dollars, aside from the land sales department, which added $1,304,000 to the profits.

Real estate at the East is doing its best to encourage immigration to Southern California. The past week or so has witnessed a continuous series of floods, and now, till the average Easterner has made up his mind that he would like to seek God's country here is the earnest quest.

James Lawler, of San Francisco, has decided that a woman is perfectly justified in shooting her husband or any other man who would seek to live in the product of her shame. Good! Let there be a general clearance of such cattle. The "unwritten law" is rapidly working itself into sections and shape.

The city contemporary, the Evening Express, takes up the Times on an interview committed in yesterday's issue touching the official career of Judge Ross, of Ohio. The Express is right, and the Times was wrong. The blunder was committed in an evil moment, when it made the "Pat none but Ohio men Democrat" had been temporarily and partially relaxed.

Senator Stanford will offer in the Senate in a few days, a resolution fixing a day for the eulogies on the late Senator Miller. Senator Stanford will speak upon Miller's career as a legislator and a citizen of California. There will follow in a similar strain, Senators Logan and Sewell will review the late Senator's brilliant war record. Some of the other speakers will be Ingalls, Harrison and Voorhees.

Money is a name sometimes amounts to a good deal. For example, when Sir Lewis Bell, in his argument before Judge Cheney last Wednesday, took an onslaught on Col. G. Wiley Wells for an alleged crooked diamond stone, and when the reporters got things all mixed up and put the name of Judge Fitzgerald in the place where the name of Colonel Wells belonged, there was enough in the name to raise a storm of indignation from the friends of Judge Fitzgerald. The Judge had no personal schemes on hand when last heard from, and is not the kind of a man to have one; the report yesterday was simply in error in using his name when another was intended, and the mistake hereunder is hereby tendered.

AMUSEMENTS.

Opera House.—An audience of fashionable proportions than the scanty number present the evening before witnessed the ultimate representation of Fantasma of Paris. Last evening's much-advertised play has failed to impart longer lodgers in owing, in the first place, to the inherent lack of merit of the piece, and also to the fact that a "gallery" piece, it has been found to be stage with most of the elements which delight the gallery left out. The song and dance men, Wilson and Conway, whose names are on the bill, do not appear. The advertised scenery did not arrive, and the many specialties which give the piece its "pavement" features are omitted. The last act, especially, is mangled out of all shape. The failure will be a lesson to the managers not to bring on a class of entertainments such as suits the people of the Bay City. To-night Ruy Blas is announced, and From Frou will be produced, with a new society debutante in the title role.

The May Festival.—A preliminary rehearsal of the piano pieces for the May Festival was given last night at Gardner's music store on Spring street, under the direction of Prof. Stamm. The numbers given were "The March," by Mendelsohn; "Wedding March," by Strauss; "Wedding March," by Mendelsohn; "Vertre a la Kowalski; "Martha Overture," by Flotow. The pieces were played on two pianos by twenty players, and the effect was charming, showing evidence of careful and much intelligent study of the orchestral piece, the solos and chorus also well under way, and the whole fair to be an imposing success. The first public rehearsal will be at Opera Hall on Monday evening, and it is urged upon all the musicians and singers of Los Angeles to be present and gain an idea of the great musical treat in store for them.

Sale.—The sale of seats commences this morning for Harrison and Gourlay's engagement at the Grand Opera House, which commences next Tuesday evening, and continues throughout the week. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings the comedians will present their three humorous play, Skipped by the Light of the Moon, and on Friday and Saturday matinee, The Frying Pan into the Fire.

Unitarian Social.

A social and hop given by Dr. Fay's parishioners at Madean Hall, last evening, was a very enjoyable affair, although the programme was somewhat interfered with by a failure of some of the expected persons to respond. Mesdames Fay and Harding entertained the guests with recitations, the former in her fine style, Tennyson's "Enoch Arden," and the latter convulsing his audience with Bather's "Miss Flora McFlimsey from Ten Thousand a Year, and Nothing to Wear." After this dancing was resorted to, music furnished by Fay's band, and the happy dancers enjoyed the changing measures with flying feet for an hour or more. Dr. Fay was pleased to enjoy the temporary relief from his parochial duties, which will be realized from the admission of floor.

WASHINGTON.

Morrow's Chinese Bill Under Consideration.

CLEVELAND TO BE MARRIED IN JUNE.

The Treaty with Venezuela Ratified—A California Woman Arrested at the White House.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The House Committee of Foreign Affairs to-day considered the Morrow Chinese bill and Chinese indemnity resolution, and, although no final action was reached, there was a free expression of individual sentiment upon the subject. The period fixed for the restriction of Chinese in the Morrow bill was regarded as too long by a number of members of the committee, and there was decided opposition developed to that portion of the bill forbidding the return of Chinese to this country after two years' absence. It was held that this portion is in conflict with treaty stipulations, as it would apply to the Chinese who were in this country before the consideration of the bill. It is probable that the measure will be amended in these respects. The indemnity resolution, in its present shape, was regarded as objectionable, as establishing a dangerous precedent, and there is some disposition to make a cash payment to China under the guise of returning an excess of the indemnity paid by China to the United States as a result of the outbreak of 1857. The California delegation urged the committee to immediate action, and it is probable that at the next meeting both measures will be agreed upon.

CLEVELAND'S CHOICE.

The President and Miss Folsom to be Married in June.

NEW YORK, April 15.—An Albany dispatch says: General Rich, to whom the dispatch about the engagement of President Cleveland to Miss Folsom was shown, said: "The report of Cleveland's impending marriage is true. A lady friend of my wife—I prefer not to mention her name, but she is a close friend of Miss Folsom, and is in constant correspondence with her—has received a letter from Miss Folsom, in which she says she is to be married to Cleveland at the White House in June."

NATIONAL NOTES.

The Senate Ratifies the Treaty with Venezuela.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—In the Senate executive session the Venezuelan treaty was taken up, read and ratified without debate. It provides for the reopening of claims of citizens of the United States against the government of Venezuela. These are to be considered by a commission of three, one to be appointed by each government, and the third to be selected by those two. If these cannot agree, the Russian or Swiss Minister is to name a Commissioner to take the place of the one disagreed upon by the two first named. The commission is to meet within three months in Washington, and its decision is to be final.

THE HAYWARDS, FATHER AND SON.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The World's Washington special says: It appears that the early reports of the marriage of the eldest son of Secretary Bayard, who is Secretary of Legation at Berne, to a Virginia lady were premature. It now appears that the marriage has not taken place. It will occur, however, next month, the young lady is Miss Deacon, a daughter of a summer hotel proprietor at Fort Pendleton, West Virginia. Bayard has given his full consent to the marriage, and there has been any estrangement between father and son, it has now passed away.

ARRESTED AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Mrs. L. I. Foster, a well-dressed, good-looking woman, 32 years of age, was taken into custody at the White House, yesterday, and escorted to the Fifth precinct station, where she was held on a charge of passing a bogus check for $30 on Gen. Rosecrans, Register of the Treasury. The woman, who claims to come from Cincinnati, presented a worthless check on a National bank of New York to General Rosecrans who cashed it for her.

ADVERSE TO THE HAWAIIAN TREATY.

The House Committee on Ways and Means to-day decided by a vote of nine to one to report favorably the resolution recommending the abrogation of the Hawaiian treaty.

THE A. AND P. LAND GRANT.

The Secretary of the Interior has entered an order on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, returnable on the 14th of May, to show cause why the order re-surveying the lands inclinded within its indemnity limits should not be restored.

THE RACES.

Third Day of the Blood-Horse Association's Meeting.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The third day of the blood horse races, drew only a small attendance. The track was very heavy and it rained during the entire sport. Very little enthusiasm was manifested as the races were of a tame order.

First race, selling purse, mile heats—Won by Mozart, who took the last two heats, Billy Ayres, the favorite having captured the first. Best time, 1:49.

Second race, Gano stakes, three-quarters of a mile, for two-year-olds—Nearly half an hour was lost at the post before a start could be made. When they did get away Modesto and Graciosa were leading and remained so until the head of the stretch was reached, when Modesto came out and won by a length. Modesto second, Robson third. Time, 1:20.

Cuyama stakes, handicap, all ages, mile and a quarter—This brought out Volante, Lucky B. and Garland, Binnette being scratched just before the start. It was an easy victory for Baldwin's horse, Volante coming in first, a length ahead of Lucky B., who was fully ten lengths ahead of Garland. Time, 2:17.

Last race, Spirit of the Times stakes, for all three-year-olds, mile and three-quarters—Only two horses came to the post, Ingleside and Precious being scratched. Ben Ali won easily from King of Norfolk, second, by half a dozen lengths. Time, 3:20.

HOSTILE INDIANS.

The Yaquis Again on the War-path in Sonora.

GUAYMAS, Mexico, April 15.—Two skirmishes with Yaqui Indians this week resulted in the defeat of the Mexican troops with a loss of three killed and eight wounded. The Indians also captured the arms, ammunition and baggage of the Mexican outposts. The Mexicans have two thousand men. The Indians under Cajome are reported to number four thousand. A general advance will be made on the Indians on the 17th inst.

TOMBSTONE, A. T., April 15.—Advices from Sonora, Mexico, state an expedition, under Gen. Otero, with 900 men, left Navajo to reconnoiter the position of the Yaqui Indians. Several engagements took place, in which the Indians lost eight killed and seventy-six prisoners. The Mexican troops then returned to Navajo.

Bitten by a Mad Dog.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Amelia Morosini, daughter of Jay Gould's old partner, and a younger sister of Mrs. V. Schilling Hoelzbamp, was bitten by a rabid dog yesterday. She was walking in the grounds surrounding her father's residence at Riverdale, N. Y., when she saw the dog coming. She ran, but the animal pursued her and overtook her. Her screams were heard by Policeman Finegan, who killed the dog with a shot from his revolver. Miss Morosini, however, had already been bitten.

Boycotting Bakers Arrested.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Eight boycotting bakers who have distributed circulars before the bakery of Mrs. Gray, of Hudson street, for several days past, were last night arrested for disorderly conduct.

SAN FRANCISCO.

A Woman Sustained for Defending Her Good Name.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—Judge Lawler, in the Police Court, rendered his decision to-day in the case of Mrs. Hattie Levison, who, on the 22d of last February, shot and dangerously wounded her husband, Wm. Levison. "In this case," said Judge Lawler, "there is no doubt that Levison was shot; but the question which arises is, whether or not the defendant had any justification in shooting him. It has been shown that, since his marriage to defendant, Levison has never done any work, and frequently expressed a desire that his wife should support him by leading a life of shame. In this city, as in other large cities, there is a class of men—or, more properly, leeches—who are not satisfied with gaining good, industrious young women, but must live off the earnings of their shame. To rid the community of this class would indeed be a great boon. The defendant in this case was fully justified in acting as she did. The case is dismissed." At the beginning of the trial the husband has not put in an appearance, and evidently did not desire to prosecute the case. A bench warrant was brought out for him, but the officers failed to learn anything regarding his whereabouts.

AN OLD QUARREL ADJUSTED.

The Typographical Union yesterday adopted the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, The differences existing for the past sixteen years between San Francisco Typographical Union, No. 21, and the Call and Bulletin newspapers having this day been honorably adjusted, it is

Resolved, That the boycott recently placed upon said papers by the Union, the Federated Trades, Knights of Labor and various other organizations of this coast be declared off.

POWDERLY'S PLEA.

The Master Workman Urges the Knights

TO SHELL OUT SHEKELS FOR STRIKERS.

Funds Pouring in to Aid the Men Who Are Out—Labor Trouble Notes in General.

Associated Press Dispatches to the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—General Master Workman Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, to-day addressed the following circular to members of the order:

To the Order, wherever found—GREETING: You have all read of the great strike on the Gould lines of railway in the Southwest. Its history is being written day by day. It makes but little difference now whether the men of the Southwest acted wisely or not. Let us pass that affair over, for, too, has passed into history. The General Executive Board of the Order attempted to settle the trouble, and restore harmony. Agreements were made with them by Jay Gould, but when the Board reached St. Louis, Mr. Hoxie would not treat with them; not that alone, but he positively refused to employ Knights of Labor, whether they had been active in the strike or not. It now becomes the part of every man and woman in the order to take up the fight of the men of the southwest and assist them to the full extent of their means. They have been idle for nearly two months. They have had a most trying ordeal to go through, and are in need of funds. It requires no eloquence or rhetoric to plead the cause of these suffering people. They require aid, and it becomes our duty to extend that aid as quickly as possible. Send every dollar you can spare to the General Secretary and Treasurer, who will at once forward it to the men at St. Louis for distribution. Remember, the men out there do not ask for charity; they do not ask at all. It is your Executive Board that makes the appeal in their behalf. He who gives quickly gives doubly. Act at once. Another appeal may be sent to you, and we ask of you to prepare for it now. We must be judged by our actions in this matter. Do not pass resolutions condemning capital, for we are not fighting capital. Do not antagonize the contest we have before us. Let us make friends of every man who has suffered through monopoly. This battle against the man who represents monopoly must be fought out manfully. Watch his actions everywhere. Keep an eye on the doings of Congress. Urge the committee that has been appointed to do its duty fearlessly. Strengthen their hands. Give them every aid. In conclusion, let us again ask you to send at once every dollar you can at present raise, to uphold the men who are now out along the lines of the southwestern system of Gould's railroads. Do not delay, and at the same time make ready to bring the whole power of the order to bear upon the man who wrecks railroads, homes, forever and lives in his greed for gold. Let us determine to have it go into history that the men of 1886 struck as grandly for liberty as the men of 1776. The men of 1776 broke the power of monarchy and dethroned the King. The power they wrested from the hands of the King was not so great as that which we have now to meet, and who through the corrupt use of money has brought the manufacturer and the workman to ruin. The power of kings has passed away; the power of wealth is passing away, and it must now be determined whether man shall rule or whether illegitimate wealth shall rule.

[Signed] T. V. POWDERLY,
Grand Master Workman.

AN INTERVIEW WITH POWDERLY.

SCRANTON, Pa., April 15.—In an interview this afternoon, Mr. Powderly, when asked what he thought of Mr. Gould's reply to his manifesto, said:

"I have not had much time to think of it, for this has been an unusually busy day with me. I don't think, however, that Mr. Gould has answered my letter. His reply is a quibble and an evasion, and he fairly slops over on some points. All there is in his communication has been said before. He evidently wants to pose before the country as a martyr, but the Knights of Labor don't propose to honor him with martyrdom. We have invited him to carry his threats of prosecution into the courts, and we are ready to meet him there. He announced some time ago his intention to commence a series of prosecutions against us, and we want him to proceed at once. We shall not be swayed from our course by anything he may say or do. Just as soon as possible we shall appoint a committee of the Order to investigate the southwestern trouble from root to branch, all along the line from St. Louis to the Mexican border. The result of this investigation will be published to the world and if the Knights of Labor who struck are at fault they will not be screened. We are anxious, however, to have a Congressional committee investigate the strike; first, to ascertain the causes leading to it; then to make them public without delay. Mr. Gould acts, or, rather, talks, like a man who fears that he will be injured. If he should be punished legally for all unlawful acts of his, that would not be unjustly injuring him; it would merely be upholding the law. If any of our men are amenable, let them also suffer."

Mr. Powderly was called to Chicago late to-night on important business connected with the Knights of Labor.

THE WORKMEN'S WAR.

Money Subscribed to Aid the Strikers—General Notes.

ST. LOUIS, April 15.—Since the arrival of the general committee of the Knights of Labor, contributions, now running up to thousands of dollars, have been received every day by the men. For the past week they have averaged over $2000 a day. All this money has been sent out to be distributed among the strikers at every point on the system where it is needed, and it has been sufficient to meet all demands so far, without calling upon the reserve fund of the order or ordering an assessment. Powderly's direction for a call for contributions was made with the approval of the board, because it will prove to the public that the strike has the indorsement of the order in general.

ST. LOUIS, April 15.—A special from Atchison, Kas., states that the strike at that point is virtually over. Out of 112 men who stopped work there by order of the Knights of Labor, 78 have returned to work, as they say, for good.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 15.—To-day the officers of the Knights of Labor ordered the tying up of all cars of the Union, People's and Central companies, and the work was done as rapidly as the cars reached their respective stations.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Eleven hundred employés of the Third avenue, Lexington avenue, One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and cable lines have decided to tie those lines at 4 o'clock, and if their demand for the discharge of non-union men is not acceded to, they threaten to tie up all the roads in the city.

The Home-Rule Bill Indorsed.

QUEBEC, April 15.—In the local legislature yesterday Mr. Lercerier, leader of the Liberal party, gave notice that he would bring up the following motion:

WHEREAS, The right of self-government is sacred to the Canadian people, and,

WHEREAS, They believe and know from actual experience that a constitutional government brings strength, peace, union and prosperity to a nation, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this House regards with great satisfaction and sympathy the noble efforts of the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone to peacefully solve the problem of Home Rule in Ireland without disintegrating the Empire, and, be it further

Resolved, That the Speaker of this House be directed to communicate these resolutions to the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone.

The Irishmen of this city are jubilant over the action taken by the Legislature. The motion probably will be unanimously adopted.

Death of Frank Tracy.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 15.—Frank Tracy, the millionaire husband of Agnes Ethel, the actress, died this morning.

FOREIGN.

The Dilke Scandal—British Finances—Notes from Abroad.

LONDON, April 15.—Sir Charles Dilke has sent to the Queen's Proctor a full and formal denial of all statements criminating him in the confession made by Mrs. Crawford to her husband, and on which the latter obtained a decree of divorce from her. Sir Charles expresses the hope that the Proctor will find cause to intervene and reopen the case for his vindication.

The Pall Mall Gazette says the Proctor has obtained a mass of information upon which he will take action soon to bring the case before the court for examination. Sir Charles Dilke is preparing to make a public statement of the case in his own defense. He will take occasion to do this in an address to the Liberals of Chelsea, his constituency, which he is arranging to deliver on May 3d.

PROCEEDINGS IN PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, April 15.—Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, introduced the budget in the House of Commons this evening. He stated that the expenses for 1885-6 were £1,393,927 less, and the receipts £1,208,699 less than the estimates made by Mr. Childers a year ago; making an actual deficit of £2,642,943 instead of £1,000,000 as estimated. The diminution in revenue was most marked in the case of alcohol, the receipts derived from which were £971,000 below the estimate. For the fiscal year of 1886-87 the expenditures are estimated at £90,428,599, and the revenue at £89,885,000. The national debt has been reduced £30,000,000 in the past five years. The budget was adopted by the House.

The absence of modifications of the Home Rule bill disheartens the Liberals and a movement is on foot to obtain Mr. Gladstone's assent to the introduction of a motion asking the House, before the second reading of the bill, to adopt a resolution simply affirming the necessity of establishing a legislature at Dublin.

A BUDGET FROM BERLIN.

BERLIN, April 15. — Advices from Zanzibar state that the Sultan has refused to cede to Portugal the territory claimed by her, and that the Portuguese Consul has on this account lowered his flag and placed the Portuguese residents under the protection of the German Consul.

Prince Bismarck, in the upper House of the Prussian Landtag, this afternoon, speaking on the government bill confiscating the land of the Poles in Posen declared that the colonization of German-Poland by Germans was a defensive act, and is taken by Prussia to avert the Polish destruction of Germanism, and to prevent the inhabitants of large communes of German ancestry from becoming wholly Polandized.

MOHICA'S MISTAKE.

Some Interesting Details Concerning the Capture of the Murderer.

Sheriff Gard, who has left no stone unturned during the time since Juan Mohica, so brutally murdered another Mexican named Higuera, some three years ago, gives some interesting particulars leading to his capture. He says that the credit of the job is mainly due to Under Sheriff Will Smith, of Yuma, who knew that Mahica was wanted. Some time ago he learned that Mohica was at work in the Gold Rock mines, near Cacina station, and went there and placed him under arrest. A number of Mexicans persuaded him that he had taken the wrong man, and he let him go. He communicated with Sheriff Gard, and as a result became convinced that he was right, and went back; but Mohica had gone. He was afterwards located in the brush back of Yuma, where he was in hiding. Smith reported to his superior at Yuma, and had some talk with a Mexican to whom the murderer had confided that he had been in trouble, and wanted to get a horse, pistol and provisions, and get away. The sheriff of Yuma sent a force to a house where Mohica was to be directed when going to get his horse. When he reached there and knocked, the door was opened, and instead of the expected assistance, there was a command to throw up his hands, which he did, and was secured.

Sheriff Gard and J. P. Dow went down to Yuma on Monday, where he got his man and brought him to Los Angeles. Mohica declined to speak at all, but denied that he had ever been in Los Angeles county, and only once in San Bernardino or Riverside county. Between El Monte and San Gabriel they met a Mexican with whom Mohica was acquainted, and to whom he said: "I kept away from there for three years, but they got me at last." Being asked why he had killed Higuera, he said he was drunk when he committed the deed.

WELLS VS. BELL.

Judge Cheney Grants a Short Continuance.

When Judge Cheney's Court was called to order at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, the Judge announced the business of the hour to be that "in the matter of Horace Bell—contempt," and inquired if Major Bell was ready with his answer to the writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Wells. Major Bell replied that he was not, and had not had any time to prepare an answer. Said he: "A man can't work when he is in the Sheriff's office, nor when he ought to be in bed, resting. I have not had two minutes' time in which to prepare an answer. I therefore ask a reasonable length of time in which to prepare."

Judge Cheney replied that he would grant a continuance until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. This morning at 10 o'clock the hearing of the habeas corpus proceedings in his case, on charges of contempt in Judge Cheney's Court on Wednesday, will be heard in the Supreme Court.

Put in the Wrong Name.

In yesterday's report of the proceedings in the Bell contempt case, it was stated that Bell, during his speech, read from the affidavit "to show that he had published Mr. Fitzgerald as having been connected with a crooked Arizona scheme, which if untrue would have been a greater libel than if true." What he did say, and what the Times report should have said, was, "and read to show that he had published G. Wiley Wells as having been connected with a crooked diamond scheme, which if untrue," etc.

GOD'S TEMPLE.

Corner Stone Laying at Pasadena Yesterday.

An interesting event in Methodist circles took place yesterday at Pasadena, and was in the nature of a corner stone laying of the new Methodist Episcopal church edifice at the corner of Colorado street and Marengo avenue. The site is a beautiful one and the ground ample, while the building itself will be a credit to the enterprise of the denomination, as well as this charming suburban retreat. There were present the Methodist ministers of Los Angeles and Pasadena, as well as of other points, together with some of other denominations.

The services were conducted by presiding Elder B. W. C. Farnsworth and Rev. F. P. Bresee, of the Fort-street M. E. Church of this city, the corner-stone laying being under the immediate supervision of Rev. Mr. Bunker and the presiding elder. The dedicatory prayer was made by Dr. Miller, and after the ceremonies were over, the assemblage resolved itself into a picnic and partook of a fine collation on the grounds adjoining.

Elder Miller and Dr. Bresee succeeded, by their well directed efforts among those present, in augmenting the subscription list some $1100, making the total amount pledged, up to this time, about $12,000, four-fifths of the intended cost of the building. Work will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, and the congregation hope to dedicate their new structure before the next rainy season sets in.

RAILROAD PLANS.

As Interestingly Fixed by a Purchase of Land.

It was reported on the streets yesterday, on the best authority, that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company had purchased from E. M. Hamilton fourteen acres of land on the east side of the Los Angeles river near the mouth of the Arroyo Seco, the price being $100 an acre. Quid-nunes figure it out that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company proposes to construct an iron railroad bridge below the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley bridge, running their tracks thence up the east bank of the river instead of the west, as at present. It is also thought that the lower railroad bridge will also be abandoned, the eastern track being brought through East Los Angeles, crossing the river on the same bridge as that devoted to the northern road. This would bring the two tracks to a focus on the east side and concentrate the river crossing on one bridge. This, however, is merely a surmise based on the well authenticated purchase of property above mentioned.

PAYNE'S PLIGHT.

The Ohio Senator's Election Investigated.

EVIDENCE OF BRIBERY AND FRAUD.

Two Reports Submitted—The Democrats Seek to Whitewash the Coal Oil Champion.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

COLUMBUS, O., April 15.—The Legislative committee appointed to investigate the charges of bribery in the election of H. B. Payne as Senator, in January, 1885, reported this evening. The majority report, which is signed by three Republicans, is lengthy, and is accompanied by eighty pages of evidence, the important points of which are cited to show that while none of the members of the present General Assembly have been conclusively impeached, a case has been made out as to corrupt methods, and the testimony fully justifies that it be certified at once to the United States Senate for action by that body in considering Payne's right to his seat. Most of the witnesses testifying as to the use of money were Democrats, some being ex-members of the Legislature, who were at the time offered various sums to vote for Payne.

The minority report is signed by two Democratic members, and is devoted to arguments to impeach the most damaging witnesses, and while admitting that there have been many newspaper rumors and much testimony of a general nature as to corruption and bribery, it claims that there is no direct evidence, and that the connecting link is out in every case, so that they hold that such evidence should not be certified to the United States Senate to blacken the character of any man.

Pending the discussion a recess was taken till to-morrow morning, and the matter will probably be before the House all the week.

SAN FERNANDO.

Correspondence of the Times.

SAN FERNANDO, April 13.—A number of Eastern men were here during the past week looking for homes. I was much pleased with the manly independence of Senator Maclay in expressing his views of Southern California to them: "Gentlemen, look at our lands, and if you don't like them, there are other lands in this end of the State you will like, and, let me say to you as an old Californian, you can hardly make a mistake in buying lands anywhere in Southern California. The country is all good. Look at all the places offered for sale, and you will be sure to strike some spot that will fill your eye."

The company is making ditches leading to and across the Pacoima river to lands on the south side, in which to lay the pipes they are manufacturing.

Things are moving here with intelligent energy, and I would judge from the number of men employed

What Our Visitors Find.

The weather has been simply perfection since the last rain—weather that befits this climate, and the strangers who have arrived in Los Angeles within the past few days are filled with astonishment at the beauty of our climate and the marvelous purity of our atmosphere. Southern California they had heard much of before leaving their old homes upon the other side of the continent, and they had expected an improvement upon the old condition of things upon arriving here; but the half that they have found, they did not anticipate.

Added to this climatic surprise is the advancement, the business activity, the wealth and general evidence of prosperity in this section of the State. Many came expecting to feel that they were upon the frontiers of American life. Instead of this, they find themselves no farther removed from the great line of progressive advancement than they were in the cities of the more eastern sections of the country. They can feel the steady pulse-beat of commercial and business life no less here than there. Indeed, they give us credit for greater activity and more persistent push and progress than they have heretofore been accustomed to. They look at us and are big with prophecies for the future of Southern California. They see what we have achieved, they look at our orchards and our vineyards, at the wealth of our soil, at the rapid influx of capital, at the resources which may be developed; at our means of communication and travel, at the improvements which mark the public spirit and enterprise of this community, and they are eager to cast in their lot with us, and to help us in the still further upbuilding and development of a section destined to become so wealthy and populous in the not distant future.

For those who see her as she is, Southern California needs no further advertisement, and of the hundreds now coming to this coast large numbers will be content if they can but make their home with us and share with us the rich promise which is evolved from every foot of land in this section.

SEVERAL of our contemporaries have suggested "Alta California" as a fitting substitute for "Northern California." They find that "Alta California" is the original name of the whole State, to distinguish it from "Baja California," the Mexican State lying west of the Gulf of California. A newspaper established at San Francisco is called the Alta California, and was originally designed for general circulation through the State. Clearly, "Alta" would be a misleading and inappropriate substitute for "Northern." "Upper" has likewise been condemned, because it has been used to mean the whole State and to distinguish it from "Lower California." Nothing better than "Higher" has yet been suggested as a substitute for "Northern." "Higher" is appropriate as to get upward of higher latitude. It sounds well, is understood by everybody, and creates no prejudice. —[Sacramento Bee.

This scheme to change fixed and long-recognized names is idle, and will not succeed. The suggestions, "Northern," "Central," and "Southern," to describe the three principal geographical subdivisions of California, are appropriate and familiar, and will be pretty apt to "stick," despite these recent attempts to change the first two. "Higher" is highly absurd.

ALREADY the Grand Army is making arrangements for suitable services to be held on Decoration Day at the tomb of its great commander. National services are to be held there on that day, and the oration will be from the eloquent lips of Gen. Logan. Representatives from G. A. R. posts throughout the country will be present. Republics are not ungrateful, and the great heart of the nation will turn in reverent sorrow, on the day devoted to the memory of its heroic dead, to the tomb of Gen. Grant, and delight to do him honor.

SANTA BARBARA looks forward to the coming summer with the anticipation of many improvements being made in her midst. Eastern capital is coming in and many new homes will be built in the course of the season. When she has her new railroad she will have nothing to do but to grow right straight along, and she will do it, too.

GENERAL MILES, now in command in Arizona, was a hardware clerk in Boston when the rebellion broke out, and enlisted. By sheer bravery and military sense he fought his way up to his present rank. He received his present rank for driving Sitting Bull out of the country after the annihilation of Custer and his command.

THE Tulare Times (Democrat) accuses the Examiner of pigeon-holing an article relating to the inside workings of the Democratic Railroad Commissioners from the pen of W. R. Andrus, the deposed Secretary. The Times whispers a request for its publication. Can it be that the Examiner has been "caved down the bank?"

COLUSA SUN (Dem.): "The boycott does not hurt the rich money loaner; it does not hurt the rich farmer; but it hurts the debtor class; it hurts the man of small means, everywhere; and, if we understand it, it is men of this class who are asked to throw the weapon!"

IT has been discovered that one of the hidden industries of the convicts in the Kansas penitentiary is the manufacture of coin. Several years ago a like state of affairs existed in the Kentucky prison, and Frankfort was flooded with well-executed counterfeit half-dollars.

THE Wall Street News of April 6th says: "Bulls in wheat during the past three months have been worse hit than bulls in stocks, and the failure of the Duluth firm yesterday is one of the evidences of it."

AT THE FRONT.

Crook and Miles Among the Indians on the Border.

THE VETERANS EXCHANGING COMMANDS.

Scenes at the Greeting and Parting—Warm Tribute to the Gray and Gallant Campaigner of Thirty Years.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

FORT BOWIE, A. T., April 13, 1886.—Yesterday afternoon the boom of the six-pounder, eleven times promulgated upon the air, notified us that the ambulance containing the new commander of the Department of Arizona had rounded the bend in the road. In a few minutes more the six mules swung around the corner of the store, and trotted smartly up across the sloping parade, and drew up in front of Col. Beaumont's house. Gen. Miles crawled out of the inadequate door of the ambulance, and shook the kinks out of his legs. Gen. Crook walked up from the office, and the two veterans shook hands undemonstratively. After dinner with Col. Beaumont, Gen. Miles came down to the office, and passed most of the afternoon in a close conference with Gen. Crook, who explained the situation fully, in response to his commander's questions. In the early evening Gen. Crook issued the following general orders:

"HEADQUARTERS, DEP'T OF ARIZONA, In the Field,
FORT BOWIE, A. T., April 11, 1886.
General Field Orders, No. 3.

In obedience to the orders of the President, I hereby relinquish command of the Department of Arizona. In severing my official relations with this Department, I cannot but express my appreciation of the zeal, intelligence, energy and courage which have marked the conduct of the troops of my command under the trying and discouraging circumstances attending the operations of the last ten months. For their steadfast loyalty and hearty cooperation, I tender them—officers and men—my sincere thanks.

GEORGE CROOK,
Brigadier-General, Commanding.

Gen. Miles issued a brief General Orders No. 4 in which he assumed command of the Department of Arizona, including the troops in Arizona, New Mexico, at Fort Bliss, Texas, and Fort Lewis, Colorado.

This morning there was another pow-wow in the office, Gen. Miles gathering up all points as to the situation with which he is now to wrestle. While he and Gen. Crook were talking, the Apache scouts came over to take their leave. The most prominent and valued one—Noche, Charley, Dutchy, Stoney-pipe and others—trotted into the office with old Concepcion and Lieut. Maus. They did a good deal of talking, and then received a short speech from Gen. Miles. He reminded them how much better off they are than the renegades now lying among the mountains of Mexico, and than the prisoners now in Florida. He informed them that every last one of the renegades will be hunted down and taken alive or dead, no matter how long it takes nor how much money it costs; and bade the scouts behave themselves when they got home.

It was a sight to see the scouts when they came to say farewell to Crook. The common "coffee-coolers" (as they call inferior, lazy scouts) merely shook his hand very effusively, and said good-bye several times over. But the men whom he had trusted, and who had proved their wonderful efficiency in this campaign, they were not content with that—they

HAD TO HUG HIM.

Noche and Charlie, particularly, threw their arms about him, and kept them there some time, patting him affectionately on the back with the right hand. He smiled at them indulgently, and told them to be good Indians.

This noon the scouts left us, steering their mules, horses and burros toward Camp Apache, where they will be disbanded. Mr. Dorsey, the storekeeper, got back late last night from a long raid through Mexico after a lot of bright-hued serapes for the scouts. The store was a busy place this morning, and by midday the majority of the scouts were clad in flaming colors that would have knocked Solomon silly. All of them had plenty of cash, having just been paid six months' pay, and they made it fly. One, who had annexed to his store the proceeds of a little judicious koon-kan, went out this morning and bought the entire harness for $166. He had $250 more to go on, too. There was a funny little incident just before they started off. A white fellow had sold a horse to one of the scouts, "Shorty," who found the animal a scrub, and yearned to get his fingers again on his $40. He found the seller at the store, and demanded his coin. White man requested him to go to sheol. Scout said, "Come out, look horse. Dam no good." White man came out, and said he "didn't see no horse in dis crowd." So the scout back to the store, but Shorty collared him, and beckoning at his pocket, said, "Come, money; come, money." White man tried to get away, but Shorty held on. At last the fellow caved, and paid over the $40 with an ill grace, remarking, "I'll meet you somewhere else, one of these times, and then I'll fix you!" The surrounding scouts roared in derision, well knowing what sort of show the white man would stand in trying to "do up" one of them." Shorty smiled sarcastically, and said, "All right—when you want fight me?

"YOU CATCH HIM, YOU HAVE HIM," which was as pithy a dell as could be desired. It just about fits this whole matter of fighting the Apaches, too—"You catch him, and you can have him."

With the scouts, also departed Lieut. Marion P. Maus, who was left in command of this battalion of scouts by the murder of Capt. Crawford. He is a very intelligent, square and manly young officer, and has furnished me with what you will find suggestive reading, in due time. Second Lieut. W. E. Shipp, of the same command, went off to-day, but not without similarly crowding a good many pages of my note book. He is a bright and pleasant West Pointer, with the figure of an Apollo.

CROOK'S DEPARTURE.

At 1 p. m. the ambulance and its sextette of long-ears was drawn up in front of Major Roberts's door. Several unassuming bundles in canvas were strapped behind, and then an old linen duster appeared in the door—and Gen. Crook was bidding farewell to the group on the piazza. If ever cordial good wishes followed a man from the scene of his labors, from those who were in a position to know him, they followed the late one. What the doings of this decade have been refined from prejudice into history; when the mongrel pack which has barked at the heels of this patient commander, has rotted a hundred years forgotten—then, if not before, Crook will get his due. In all the line of Indian-fighters, from Daniel Boone to date, one figure will easily rank all others—a wise, large-hearted, large-minded, strong-handed, broad-gauge man—George Crook. I am glad that, after a third of a century of almost steady campaigning, he has at last secured a needed and nobly-earned rest, and goes to take life quietly in the department of his choice (as ranking Brigadier of the army he had his choice, and selected Omaha). He is now on his way to Whipple Barracks, A. T. (to reach which he has to go around by Albuquerque and out on the A. and P.), where he will remain a few days to pack up; and then he will proceed to his new post. May all success and prosperity attend him.

LITTLE LAURA.

I have already mentioned his fatherly kindliness to the Indians, in all their tediousness and childishness. It touched me a good deal. Equally noticeable is his fondness for children. In the busiest and most discouraging hours of the campaign he would unbend his eyebrows for a moment's romp with little Laura, Major Roberts's lovely three-year-old girl. She thinks the world of the tall old warrior who will drop the Apache renegades for a span, to toss her in his arms. She calls him "Crookie," with cheerful unconventionality, and has no compunction about assailing him at any point. Her bugaboo is the goat, which she holds in holy horror. When that exploding cartridge mowed its way through the General's beard and eyebrows, and burned his nose and cheeks, Laura was present. She set up a wail of distress, and ran to her mother, saying, "I don't like Crookie any more—he looks like a billy-goat!" Ever since that catastrophe she has refused to sit next him at table. She rolled me over, the other day, when the three of us were sitting upon the porch, by exclaiming, when the General wouldn't tell her something: "Crookie, you're an old bump on a log!" Verily, childhood, like death, is no respecter of persons.

By the way, Major Roberts and family will spend some time in and around Los Angeles, shortly, taking advantage of his leave of absence. The Major has served on Gen. Crook's staff at intervals ever since the beginning of the Civil War, and is highly valued by him both as an officer and as a friend. General Orders, No., relieving Major Roberts from further duty here—and which he was too modest to let me see—is one of the warmest recognitions of faithful and efficient service I ever read on the sly.

This afternoon I had a short

TALK WITH GENERAL MILES.

He is a tall, straight, fine looking man, of 210 pounds weight, and apparently in the early fifties as to age. He has a well-modeled head, high brow, strong eye, clean-cut aquiline nose, and firm mouth. It is an imposing and soldierly figure, all around. He said: "There is no change. Capt. Dorst is still down in Mexico, pushing after the hostiles, and it will be some little time —say a fortnight—before any additional operations can be organized. We shall simply keep up the pursuit already inaugurated, always following the hostiles and giving them no respite. Thus we shall serve the double purpose of the campaign—to protect the settlements and to get hold of the hostiles. The pursuit will be kept up until we get them, dead or alive." He also asked how Los Angeles was prospering, and highly complimented its beauty. Having, in Washington papers, an intimation that the Indian account policy is to be discontinued, and white scouts employed, I asked Gen. Miles about it. He said he was not yet prepared to declare his plans in this respect. I have no doubt that if it is left to him, he will take the Apache scouts. It has been his policy hitherto to employ Indian scouts; and he has already been here long enough to understand, no doubt, what an absolute farce it would be to try to catch the renegade Apaches with white people. But there are indications that the President has again exposed himself, and is inclined to run the army in detail. If so, it is a remarkable case of ill taste and ill sense. The idea of a man running this campaign from Washington—a man who never saw the frontier, and who knows less about Indians and the details of such a war as this than the dullest officer in the field! But it's just like Cleve. LUM.

FROM CHICAGO.

Notes of the Fair—How Our Fruits Show Up.

Correspondence of the TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 31.—As one enters Battery D. Armory, the building in which the Citrus Fair is held, to the left is seen the exhibit of Los Angeles county, to the right that of Santa Barbara and San Bernardino counties. The display, as a whole, is very fine—perhaps the best ever placed on exhibition. The Santa Ana Valley and Riverside deserve special credit. The fruit of both places is unsurpassed. As to variety of productions the Santa Ana Valley carries off the palm.

At the lower end of the Hall is an obelisk some thirty-five feet in height, surrounded by oranges and lemons. It took 7000 oranges and lemons to cover it. It looks very pretty.

Great attention is drawn by the pepinos, or melon fruit, of Jacob Miller, Cahuenga; the pulp of the tyncea palm and wheat of the Antelope Valley; crude petroleum, etc., of the Manufacturers' Association, of Los Angeles.

C. H. Richardson, of Pasadena, has the finest orange tree. A tree from the Santa Ana Valley has the most oranges; would have been the best, had it not been frosted.

A large English ivy, rubber tree, cocoloba, polyclods and other evergreens of Bell & San Gabriel Valley decorate the Hall finely.

E. N. Rust, of Pasadena, has some very fine one-year-old orange and lemon trees. The Santa Ana valley has a fine lot of fan and ribbon palms. Riverside has a large six-year-old date palm, and a four-year-old century plant. Pasadena is handsomely represented. Mr. Dalton, the storekeeper, got back late last night from a long raid through Mexico after a lot of bright-hued serapes for the scouts. The store was a busy place this morning, and by midday the majority of the scouts were clad in flaming colors that would have knocked Solomon silly. All of them had plenty of cash, having just been paid six months' pay, and they made it fly. Benton's Hair Grower.

All who are bald, all who are becoming bald, all who do not want to be bald, all who are troubled with dandruff, or itching of the scalp; should use Benton's Hair Grower. Eighty per cent. of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years. We have fully substantiated the following facts:

We grow hair in eighty cases out of a hundred, no matter how long bald.

Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral poisons.

It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff and itching of the scalp.

The Hair Grower is a Hair food and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

DOUBLE AND TRIPLE STRENGTH.

When the skin is very tough and hard, and the follicle is apparently effectually closed, the single strength will sometimes fail to reach the papilla; in such cases the double or triple strength should be used in connection with the single, using them alternately.

Price, single strength, $1; double strength, $2; triple strength, $3. If your druggists have not got it we will send it prepaid on receipt of price.

First—Is intended to benefit deserving and industrious women by affording an opportunity to dispose of their work to persons who are willing to purchase useful articles.

Second—The Exchange can furnish choice articles of food cooked to order, ready made fancy articles, and everything that represents woman's work—and here is an opportunity for the generous-hearted to do a gracious act and yet get the full worth of their money. The commission for selling is barely enough to pay the small expenses of the Exchange. Call and see the work. 17 S. Main street.

Beecher on Advertising.

" " " I am glad that the doctor cured him. I am glad that the doctor put it into the paper that he could cure him. And if any doctor or seller has one cure such disease and don't put it in the paper, I am sorry. What a pity it would have been had this doctor come to town with his wealth of science and experience, and gone away leaving him uncured! What a pity it would have been if he had been so prejudiced against advertising as to read the responsible certificates of the doctor and give him the go-by for a quack! What newspaper has a right to circulate information? What more valuable information can a newspaper give than to tell a sick man where he can be cured? If a man has devoted his life and labor to the study of a special class of diseases, the necessity of his saying so becomes all the more pressing. His duty to advertise becomes imperious. A really able man, whatever he might say, makes a great mistake if he fails to use those gifts through want of advertising."

The above extract, com an able article by the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, embodies a sound view of the necessity of advertising. Suppose Dr. Davis had not advertised, and published numerous certificates from well-known persons who he has cured, how many would call on him in a place so large and so transient a population as Los Angeles, that there was a doctor among us who could cure that most troublesome of all complaints —catarrh—when it affects the nose, throat or lung? How many of our leading citizens would now be in their graves from consumption if they had not learned of his successful treatment, with medical inhalations, through advertising? Dr. Davis has been located for two years at 45½ N. Spring street, this city, doing his good work, and we hope that he will continue to prosper as in the past.—Adv.

A MURDERED TRAMP

Found in the Willows by the River, Yesterday.

A "PARTNER" ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Mystery of the Taking Off—Indications that the Man was Assassinated While Asleep—The Last of "Red."

W. F. Gilbert, who was engaged in hauling sand and gravel from the river bed between the lower Southern Pacific railroad bridge and the Macy street bridge, discovered near noon yesterday, the body of a man lying in the willows on the river bank. He gave information to McBratney & Howry, who, in turn, notified Deputy Coroner Frank Oakley. The last named found the body lying on its side with the face turned down upon the ground. The remains were removed to the undertaking establishment of Ponet, Orr & Sutch, where they were viewed by many people during the afternoon.

The deceased appeared to be a young man of about 18 or 20, medium height and weighing about 150 pounds. The face, which never seemed to have been traversed by a razor, showed a slight downy growth of board and mustache. The hair was a dark auburn and came down low on the forehead. The face, neck and chest were suffused with blood and purple. The point of the tongue protruded through the teeth, and there was a trace of blood from the nose. A wound at the base of the neck at the left side betrayed the cause of death. Dr. Nadeau, who examined it, pronounced it the work of a bullet. He thought the missile had probably ranged downward and forward, penetrating the chest, and thus causing the suffusion. The left hand showed the second finger missing at the second joint. There was a slight abrasion of the skin of the left arm between the shoulder and elbow, and the right cheek was somewhat contused and abraded, as though by a blow from a boot heel. Dr. Nadeau explained that these injuries must have been inflicted before death, as they presented a reddish appearance, caused by the settling of blood there. There was still a trace of warmth in the body, and the doctor thought that the man might have been dead ten or twelve hours.

When found, the body was dressed in overalls, woolen and gingham shirts, black sack coat, wool socks and shoes. There was a red bandana handkerchief hanging on a bush near by, and on the ground was a box of iodoform ointment and a phial partly filled with carbolic acid, bearing the label "R. Chase's Medicine Chest." There was also found some bandages, which, with the medicines, it is thought were used for dressing the stump of the amputated finger. The pockets contained only a few trinkets, such as a knife, comb, etc., and no papers.

It develops that the name of the murdered man was P. Christman. He was a well-known tramp and had been in the clutches of the law several times. Constable Fleming remembers him as being in Justice Austin's court several times. Constable Cline arrested Christman and his partner, Chas. Williams, on the storehouse steps last Saturday night. The two were kept in jail until Wednesday morning and then arraigned before Justice Rainey, who fined them for vagrancy. The fine was remitted, however, upon a showing that the men were going to work in a lumber yard. Geo. Williams, the "partner," is described as a slim man, about six feet high, with a cross-eye and a shady moustache. He was with Christman all last winter, and claimed to be supporting him.

F. A. Yorba testified that at ten minutes past seven yesterday, when he went to bring the body from the river near the railroad trestle, the legs, neck and arms of deceased were red. He informed him, from his familiarity with dead bodies, that the deceased had died during the night.

George Williams, the "partner," said that the deceased and himself had slept together on some planks in the Oregon Lumber Company's yard for a long time, and went to sleep there again last night. He got up this morning at half-past five, leaving deceased still covering him with his (Williams's) blanket. He spoke to Christman at that time, who declined to get up as it was too early. He then went to Porter Bros.' warehouse to get a job picking oranges, and at 7 o'clock went to look for his partner. The latter was gone and he found the blanket rolled up. Two strange men came along during the day whilst he was at work at the Oregon lumber yard, and he inquired of them concerning "Red," who had his hand in a sling. They said: "He is lying dead in the willows."

"No one ever saw me leave the yard this morning. Think we went to sleep last night together about half-past eight or a quarter to nine." Recalled: Witness did not tell Constable Cline, this evening, that I left the deceased at 7 o'clock this morning, or that I gave him money, ten cents, for I did not."

The witness, in his testimony, expressed much attachment for the deceased.

Deputy Constable W. H. Cline arrested both men last Saturday for vagrancy. They were discharged on Monday.

Cline testified: "Williams told me this evening that he left the deceased at 7 o'clock this morning, and that he was then alive and spoke to him, and gave him money to get his breakfast with. 'I think,' he said, 'I gave him ten cents.'"

James Martin, a printer, identified the deceased as Peter Christman, of Kenosha, Wis., aged 17 years. He saw deceased either last night or the night before, a little after 5 o'clock, in front of the Strasburg Hotel, on Alameda street. They walked to the Boston Bakery, where Williams handed something he had under his arm to Christman, who appeared unwilling to take it, but finally took it, and they left each other as if they had been quarreling. Williams went down toward the new depot, and Christman sat down at the old depot stairs. The deceased had told him that Williams was a pretty good friend to him, and paid for his meals.

Fred Fientjesaw the deceased and Williams sitting on the trestle near the place where deceased was killed, yesterday, between 3 and 4 o'clock p. m. They were talking to one another, and appeared friendly.

W. F. Gilbert testified to seeing the body lying where it was found at 11 o'clock in the morning. A man whom he did not know, and who was lying on the ground, told him there was a dead man in the willows. He did not touch the body or see any signs of a struggle there. He notified Mr. Howry, of McBratney & Howry, who went back with him. The deceased was already stiff, and the cold did not straighten him out. The deceased's face was black. The witness here described the man who had told him of the body.

Deputy Coroner Frank Oakley testified to finding the body. Deceased was lying on his right side, his head bowed towards his breast. His face looked bluish-black, as if he had choked to death. There were no exterior marks of violence visible then, excepting a slight bruise on the cheek, nor was the ground trampled. The right leg was doubled at right angles under the left, and the position of the deceased was such as to indicate that he was killed while asleep. The body had not been disturbed, and no attempt to search him had been made. After he was conveyed to the morgue, a bullet wound was found at the base of the neck upon the left shoulder. A small hole also appeared through his coat, vest and blue woolen shirt. In his pockets there was found soap, a towel, bandages, a copy of the TIMES of the 11th, and a Club Theater playbill for the week ending April 11th, and a nearly empty phial, marked carbolic acid. No knife, pistol or other weapon, other than those mentioned, were upon his person or near him, excepting a red pocket handkerchief, a wooden pill-box containing iodoform, and a tomato can containing water.

The post mortem showed that the bullet entered on the left side of the neck, making a wound half an inch in diameter, pursued a straight course through the spinal column, penetrated the spinal cord, ranging upwards to the brain and lodging in the cerebellum. Death was instantaneous.

The jury, composed of L. A. Harris, D. E. Merriam, J. E. Duignan, E. McCullough, F. V. Reyes, F. Griebel, David Sherpser, H. S. Slotterbeck and F. H. Rockwell, found that the deceased came to his death by a bullet from a pistol, fired by a party unknown.

They cannot positively connect George Williams with the crime, but thought that he must know something of it.

Williams was locked up to await further developments in the course of to-day.

A man reports having heard two pistol shots Wednesday night at 11 o'clock in the neighborhood of the place where deceased was found. The fact that rigor mortis had set in at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, when the deceased was seen the first time, would seem to contradict the statement made by Williams that Christman was alive at 7 a. m. Accidental shooting by a party who was not aware of the presence of Christman is not likely, from the course the bullet took, the deceased having been shot where he lay, and whilst asleep. The theory is that he was shot from very near. The bullet was a 38-calibre, and it took a long time for the doctors who conducted the post-mortem to discover it. The tramp-like appearance of the deceased precludes the supposition that he was murdered for money; furthermore he had not been searched. If it was no accident or the motive was not robbery, revenge alone seems to remain as the plausible theory. The deed could only have been committed before daylight, as the place is an open spot in full view of the trestle and the other side of the river, where many people pass.

CABLE ROADS.

The Temple Street and Proposed Boyle Heights Lines.

A TIMES reporter called upon President W. S. Maxwell, of the Temple street cable line, yesterday, for information as to the time when it would probably be put into operation. He said that the road was now completed, and that the cars and wire cables were on the way hither; so that but for one or two things cars might be set running within ten days. The dummies and grips are being constructed here, and it is owing to some delay in the completion of these that operations are retarded. The road will in all probability be ready for passengers by the middle of May. All of the conductors and gripmen are to be brought from San Francisco, where they have had experience in operating cable cars. All will be uniformed, and it is the intention to make the Temple street line superior to any outside of San Francisco. It will require the transportation of about six hundred passengers each way, daily, to pay running expenses. Cars are to be run every ten minutes, and, if business will justify it, oftener.

The road is still in the hands of the Pacific Construction Company. S. O. Brown and J. M. Thompson, who will operate it for thirty days after the rolling stock is put on, with Leon Levi and E. I. Toole as engineers at the motor house Col. Warren is the superintendent.

A call was also made upon M. L. Wicks, who, with Col. Howland, has inaugurated the project of building a new line from Second street to Boyle Heights. It was known that a considerable amount of land had been purchased along the proposed line, for a right of way and the extension, in an easterly direction, of Second street. Mr. Wicks said that he and Mr. Howland were alone interested in the project, and had put a considerable amount of money into land, in furtherance of their object. The proposed road is to run in a straight line, bearing south through the Woodworth tract south of Alameda street, the McLaughlin tract, land of Mrs. Bigelow and Mrs. Hunter, to the river, and across a strip of city land and cut off a corner of J. Rogan's twenty-acre tract, and so on to Stevenson street. It is in the plan to extend the line down this street to connect with the Downey road, a distance of nearly four miles from the starting point.

As usual, there is always one or more objectors to any public enterprise, and in this case Rogan is the greatest stumbling block. He strenuously objects to the road going through his land unless it shall run parallel with his lines, or unless his entire tract be purchased. He has written a peculiar letter to Mr. Wicks, in which he claims that the building of the road would open up his garden-patch to the depredations of thieves, and, being a nervous man, he fears he might, in the event of finding one of these characters on his premises, commit an act of violence that would land him at San Quentin, or afford the Sheriff an opportunity to give a necktie social. Correspondence has been had with Baltimore parties with reference to a plan for running cars by electricity or by motor.

THE EAST SIDE.

First Wedding in the Presbyterian Church.

The Presbyterian Church of East Los Angeles was thronged at 2 p. m. yesterday, on the occasion of the marriage of Wm. H. Pierce and Miss Mary, daughter of Dr. S. C. Newton. As it was the first time a wedding had graced this church, the ladies had skilful hands at hand busy with elaborate decorations. Evergreens and flowers were lavishly disposed about the altar, and a beautiful arch before it supported a lovely bell of white roses.

The strains of the "Wedding March" announced the arrival of the bridal party, and two sweet little girls led the way, strewing the path with flowers. The ushers, R. W. Pierce and J. Bert Ellis, preceded the bride and groom.

The bride was dressed in a becoming suit of light brown silk trimmed with lace. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Boal, pastor, assisted by Rev. C. W. Gregory, of the Baptist church, and at its conclusion the wedding party and friends followed the youthful pair to the house of Dr. Newton to present congratulations.

After refreshments had been served, the groom and the bride took the train for the south, followed by many warm-hearted wishes for a pleasant trip and the life journey together.

THE DEMOCRATS.

A Slim Meeting Last Night—No Nominations.

There were just ten Democrats in the Council Chamber last night when Harry W. Patton, the Secretary of the City Central Committee, called the meeting to order. John O'Neil was elected Chairman and Colonel Jacob Mosher Secretary. George W. Burton nominated Louis Mesmer for Councilman of the Third Ward, to take the place of Albert Brown, resigned. Colonel Jacoby said he had lived twenty years in the Third Ward, and Mr. Mesmer had run a great many times, and Sunday between 3 and 4 o'clock p. m. They were talking to one another, and appeared friendly.

W. F. Gilbert testified to seeing the body lying where it was found at 11 o'clock in the morning. A man whom he did not know, and who was lying on the ground, told him there was a dead man in the willows. He did not touch the body or see any signs of a struggle there. WAYLAID.

A Newcomer Who Made an Excursion and Fell Among Thieves.

David Kelley, a newcomer to the city, walked out to the Three-mile House, on the San Fernando road, late in the afternoon last Thursday, and, after spending an hour or so at the wayside retreat, started to walk to town about dusk. As he was traveling along by the railroad track two men met him, and inquired how far it was to the next station. As Kelley was about to answer, one of the men struck him in the back of the head. Kelley showed fight, and, in the melee which followed, he was stabbed in the left forearm. That is all he remembers. He was robbed of a silver watch and $45 in gold coin.

The engineer of the south bound train saw Kelly lying beside the track, about 5 o'clock yesterday morning and stopped the train. The man was picked up, revived by stimulants and brought to town, when he was placed in the hospital. Dr. Will Lindley dressed the wound. The robber's knife had severed the brachial artery and it is a wonder that Kelly did not bleed to death.

TITLE PERFECT.

Being United States patent, and held by Mr. Urmston since his original entry.

The Urmston Tract, which has remained in the possession of the owner ever since he entered it at the land office, has not yet changed hands. This beautiful property will be immediately subdivided into building lots. The deed will be placed with F. C. Howes, Esq., the cashier of the Los Angeles National Bank, as trustee, and the bank will be made a depository for the funds, by the Southern California Land Company, No. 263 N. Main st., who become the managers of this popular enterprise. The same gentlemen inaugurated and brought to a successful result the "Childs Tract Homestead." They also formed the Columbia Colony syndicate for the Fowler Ranche. Those shares, placed in December last at $1250, now command $3000.

The Urmston Tract forms three hundred and seventy-eight large lots. Four electric cars will be maintained without charge to the lot holders for one year. Artificial stone and plank sidewalks will be constructed on every street. Six elegant cottages are to be erected on different portions of the tract. All the improvements, including the buildings, will be without charge to the subscribers to the lots, and the division of the property made in the same manner as that of the Childs Tract, which was so eminently satisfactory to all. The payments being, as in the former case, directly to the owners of the land, the price to the subscribers has been placed at the lowest possible amount. During the sale of this splendid property there will be no need to make outside excursions for building lots miles away, at hundreds of dollars above their value.

These lots in the Urmston Tract are to be sold at $220 each, in payments of $30 the first month, and of $10 per month thereafter, without interest. The division takes place after the fourth month's payment, which will be known as

First Payment, $30.

The property lies between Adams and Washington streets, fronting also on Adams, Hoover and Vermont ave., and other broad and beautiful thoroughfares.

It is a pleasant walk from the Figueroa street railroad through Washington street to the tract, which is surrounded by handsome mansions; those of Messrs. Burbo, McCreery, Harpo, Rose, Ni a, Whitney and others being conspicuous.

As a residence site this tract has no superior. The water is of the purest quality. The high elevation of the tract, as it now offers it to all comers as a sample of one of the good things of the many that await new residents of that quarter.

The city water will also be piped to these lots when required by the occupants of the many beautiful homes that will be made within the next few months. Three distinct street railroads in a very short time will bring the property on Washington and Adams streets and on Vermont avenue. Col. Howland's electric motor road will pass on Adams street.

The low price of these desirable building sites is for the purpose of at once adding largely to the improvements of this charming portion of the city.

The first-class sidewalks, the elegant cottages, the electric lights and the motivalled locality, will sell all these lots in a very few days, especially on the long time offered. Yesterday, although the tract was not yet placed on the market, thirty names came into the office of the company, and residents near the tract brought in eighteen more. The broad frontage and the fine depth of the lots commend them to every one seeking an investment that will more than double within the next six months.

First-class busses leave North Main st., below the St. Elmo Hotel, every hour, direct to the tract—leaving at 7 o'clock. Through these busses leave every half-hour. Time required for the trip twenty-four minutes. The same location in San Francisco, with lots but half the size, would sell for $4000 each. Los Angeles will have at least treble its present population within the next three years. What will be the value of this splendid property in that time?

On a portion of the tract there are bearing orange trees and vines. The improvements to be made will be commenced at once, and will be completed before the division of the property takes place. The office of the company will be filled to-day with applicants for this fine residence property.
